Background

The Trust made its submission of the new annual Data Security and Protection (DS&P) toolkit on Wednesday 27th March 2019. The toolkit replaces the former Information Governance Toolkit which we completed annually.

On submission of this new toolkit, all standards were declared as met, as detailed in the report below.

As this is a new toolkit, there has been considerable discussion within the IG community of what constitutes an acceptable response. Our submission for example will be reviewed by NHS Digital in order to provide assurance to the Confidentiality Advisory Group so that they can continue to allow us to use a Section 251 for the Mesobank study.

It should also be noted that the new toolkit has a much welcomed and stronger focus on Cyber security (as you might expect), and in most areas we only answered mandatory questions. It is anticipated that some non-mandatory questions in this first toolkit will become mandatory next year.

We anticipate the next iteration of the toolkit to become available in August / September 2019, at which point, we can begin to start work to ensure our submission continues to demonstrate compliance and be as comprehensive as possible using our auditors to continue to monitor independent assessment.
