

Mr Pradeep Kaul, Senior Clinical Fellow in Transplantation, Royal Papworth Hospital

After completing his MBBS, Pradeep completed his General surgical residency from University of Bombay, India. He has trained as a cardiothoracic surgeon in Trent Cardiothoracic rotation. After his general cardiothoracic training, he trained in thoracic transplantation at the Freeman Hospital, Newcastle upon Tyne, UK. Pradeep further trained in thoracic transplantation and mechanical circulatory support at the Duke University Medical Centre, Durham, North Carolina, USA.

I have been working as a Senior Clinical Fellow in Transplantation at the Royal Papworth Hospital and have been an actively involved in Papworth NORS team.