

How do I access UpToDate?

That is the question!

From inside Royal Papworth: just follow this direct link or the link from our Electronic Resources page.

From outside the hospital site: go to www.uptodate.com and log in using your OpenAthens account. A quick access guide is available here.

Want to learn how to use UpToDate from an expert?

Do you have questions about how to get the best out of it?

Join us on a virtual tour on Friday, 24th July from 10.30am – 11.30am.

Please send an email to papworth.library@nhs.net to register.

Or on the day you can join the tour by clicking on the following link

Books in ICU

You said: you would like two specific print books to be available inside ICU during the COVID-19 pandemic.

We did: we purchased 3 copies each of 'ECMO in the Adult Patient' and 'Handbook of Drugs in Intensive Care' and made them available inside the ICU.

Both titles are also available as e-books. Access by going to the Cambridge Core website and looking up the title. You can find a step-by-step quick access guide here.

Literature Search Skills training – via MS Teams

Do you...

- ...struggle to locate the evidence you need for your practice?
- ...spend hours searching for that all important article?
- ...feel mystified by MESH?

If the answer is yes to any of these questions, then request a 1-1 training session.

You will:

- increase your speed and accuracy in searching the healthcare databases
- understand why MESH is important
- develop strategies for accessing research articles
- feel confident that you can develop an advanced search strategy for research, study or evidence-based practice

To book, please email Becky Scott, Library Services Manager, becky.scott2@nhs.net. A number of dates are available through July and August and sessions will be held via MS Teams.

Welcome back, Rebecca!

We are delighted to welcome back Rebecca Rowe after her maternity leave with the lovely Erika. Rebecca is an expert searcher with a keen interest in systematic reviews.

Over the next few months, Rebecca and the Library Team will be transforming our training programme into a virtual offer so that staff can still access support for their education and evidence-based practice during the pandemic.

Please email papworth.library@nhs.net if you would like to express an interest in support for a project you are working on or a training need. And please join me in welcoming Rebecca back, we have really missed her!

Book loans are back

Have you been missing our print books?

The great news is that from 6th July, print books will be loaned again. The 'place hold' function on ELMS is now open again and you can begin to request items. We will have these ready for collection from the 6th July onwards.

We are happy that we have found a solution for the safe circulation of stock. After 6th July, we will move to a 3 day turnaround for books that are stored on site.

Request placed between	Collect from
Thursday 9am – Monday 9am	From midday Monday
Monday 9am – Thursday 9am	From midday Thursday

The first floor office has been reconfigured. The book collection point will now be in the admin corridor, past the double doors next to the cardiology post area.

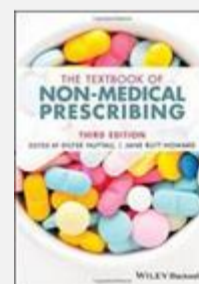

The book returns unit is now next to the lockers. Please place all items to return in here and do not bring them to the Library desk.

If you have books on loan, please don't forget to either return them or renew them.

For any queries regarding the new process for borrowing books, please email us at papworth.library@nhs.net.

New print books in our collection

You can now find these new titles in our ELMS catalogue.

If you have checked the ELMS catalogue, but we don't have the book you need, please submit a request for a new purchase. Every request will be given due consideration.
